

REVIEWERS' PREVIEW

“In his dissertation Mr. Lütz has chosen to analyze ways to reduce poverty in the world. In contrast to the usual critical globalization debate, Mr. Lütz argues for an important role of corporations to fight poverty. For him, big and small are beautiful. This means that multinational companies as well as small companies can help to reduce poverty. Mr. Lütz discusses the poverty problem in a comprehensive approach. He combines the macroeconomic and microeconomic levels and discusses possible actions of different agents, especially policy makers, corporations, NGOs, and individuals. In the debate about poverty reduction, this approach is not common. Mr. Lütz managed to overcome boundaries of established thinking and in this way created something new.”

“This thesis is definitely an unusual one. Not only by its format. Johannes Lütz has delivered an opus with a more than challenging aim: display the opportunities of all men and institutions, regional and global, to fight human poverty. For this, the author exploited his own experiences and economic knowledge and interviewed experts from different areas, such as the German Minister Wieczorek-Zeul and University Lecturer Eileen Baldry from Australia. He demonstrated his ability to develop a clear story, full of interesting facts and numbers. His economic competence enabled him to draw compelling conclusions that show where the opportunities are. The thesis is based on excellent content.”

“Opportunities for Global Poverty Reduction in the 21st Century presents the sobering reality of the world’s dire state of poverty. At the same time the book shines a hopeful ray of light on the path towards a poverty-free world. It is easy to follow and introduces views and ideas from key leaders and sectors in society pinpointing a myriad of opportunities which may be examined and pursued for the respect of human dignity and the betterment of the world. The book inspires empathy, hope, vision, and motivation. All leaders and laymen who cherish basic human values will be encouraged to take action in an endeavor to reach that grand goal which has never been more attainable than at the dawn of the 21st century: making poverty ‘history.’”

“Twenty years from now you will be more disappointed by the things that you didn’t do than by the ones you did do. So throw off the bowlines. Sail away from the safe harbor. Catch the trade winds in your sails. Explore. Dream. Discover.’ This famous invitation to ‘dream audaciously’ has been attributed to none other than Samuel Langhorne Clemens, better known as Mark Twain (1835-1910). One-hundred years later – in the early 21st century – another ‘audacious’ dream is presented to mankind: the dream of ending global poverty. Opportunities for Global Poverty Reduction in the 21st Century is an invitation to get on board, cast off, catch the trade winds, and discover new shores of human dignity, peace, and prosperity. Whether as politicians, corporate executives, aid workers, or individuals... I personally wish that the dream this book inspires will attract a widespread global following.”
